Wandering walkers wearing warm waistcoats walked warily beside waving willows while wandering warblers whistled within watery woodlands. Wealthy wardens welcomed wayfaring workers with wholesome waffles, walnut wraps, and wonderful watermelon wedges. Wise watchmakers worked with waxed wires while weathered woodworkers welded walnut wardrobes within wide workshops. Waggish writers wove whimsical words with warmth, wisdom, and wit, whereas weary waiters whisked warm whitewash within weatherworn warehouses. Meanwhile, wild wolves wandered westward, watching winding waterways where white-winged waterfowl waddled without worry. Throughout winter weekends, welcoming women wore woven woollen wear while worshippers whispered wholehearted wishes within well-lit worship halls. Wonderful wafts of wildflowers wandered within the wind, wrapping the world with wellness, wonder, and wakeful warmth
